If that no Flat be set in B,
 Then in that place standeth your Me;
 But if your B alone be flat,
 Then E is Me, be sure of that:
 If both be Flat, your B and E,
 Then A is Me, as you may see.

Cantus. A Funeral HYMN, to be sung at the Death of a Friend.

Since that our Friend's prepar'd to rest, within the silent Grave;

Let it be made our joint request, That God his Soul wou'd save:

In certain hope of future joy, His peaceful a-shes sleep;

Let no rude hand their peace an-roy, nor us too loudly, weep.

For at the great discerning day,
 We shall together meet;
 And there our awful homage pay,
 At our kind Masters feet;
 Then the great Judge from his high throne,
 Bright Crowns of Gold shall give;
 To such, as have his precepts known,
 And study'd well to live.

Oh! let us then our Hearts prepare,
 For that uncertain hour;
 When Death shall end our pain and care;
 Which us too much devour.
 Lord, give us grace our time to spend,
 In Virtue's prudent way;
 That when we 'pproach our latter end,
 No fear may us dismay.

Our selves for that uncertain time,
 Yet nothing is so sure;
 Then let us all our hearts incline,
 To mind our dying hour:
 Which that we all may do, Lord, give
 Us Grace our time to spend;
 That we who in this world do live,
 May mind our latter end.
